

Epileptic Disorders Educational Prize 2001

James Barnett

James Barnett was awarded the Epileptic Disorders Educational Prize for his paper, Characterizing Sunflower syndrome: a clinical series. Barnett JR, Fleming BM, Geenen KR, Sourbron J, Freedman JH, Bruno PL, Thiele EA. Epileptic Disord 2020; 22(3): 273-80.

The award will present their finding at the Journal Prize sessions on August 29 and 30 at the virtual International Epilepsy Congress.

Dr Barnett was born in Ridgewood, New Jersey, and completed his undergraduate degree at Boston University. He then worked as a research assistant in the Pediatric Epilepsy Program at Massachusetts General Hospital directed by Dr. Elizabeth Thiele. During his time there, he helped establish the Massachusetts General Hospital's Sunflower syndrome clinic. He is currently a medical student at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in Bronx, NY.